Bishop's letter.....

.....Reimagining generosity.

In John's Gospel, the first of the signs that Jesus offers to show who he is happens at a wedding in the town of Cana in Galilee (John 2: 1-11). Jesus saves the whole event from being a social disaster. The presenting issue is that the wine runs out. This exposes the families that have organised the event to the possibility of severe embarrassment. Rather than modelling lavish hospitality, they are in danger of showing themselves to be stingy and disorganised. Thankfully Jesus's mum is alerted to the situation and gets Jesus on the case. He comes up with a solution and all is well.

What gets me every time about this story is the scale and the quality of the solution that Jesus presents. If my calculations are right, Jesus saves the day by creating the equivalent of six wheelie bins full of wine. And not just your supermarket bottom shelf stuff. The wine he provides is of the very best quality – stuff that would delight sommeliers and wine snobs the world over.

In his first action, Jesus could have chosen to show any number of things about himself – his wisdom, his power, his goodness or so on. What's striking is that he begins by revealing that he is someone of astonishing and abundant generosity. This is at heart who Jesus is.

If this is who Jesus is, then that means that this is who God is too. For 'in God there is no unChristlikeness'. In his first action, Jesus is showing us that at heart, God is abundantly and astonishingly generous.

If we're all made in God's image, might that be at heart who we're called to be too? Often, the call to be generous can be portrayed as hard and difficult, about self-sacrifice and denial, of the costly call to put others first. But what if we reimagined what being generous means? If we understood being generous as in fact the way to reveal and enjoy our true selves – lavishly, abundantly, joyfully... merrily?

A wheelie bin of wine anyone?

RICHARD BRAIN

The end of the road.

Come rain or shine, every month for more than 20 years' Richard Brain has ventured out to deliver "Village News" to addresses in Rectory Lane & Parsonage Lane.

In walking his round on at least 250 occasions he will have delivered more than 6500 copies.

Baptismal / Christening Robes Exhibition.

Saturday 12th - Sunday 13th October 2024

We have a number of antique Christening Robes and Bonnets which we plan to display in St Stephens Church Charlton Musgrove. We may include a Cheese and Wine and or Tea and cakes to enjoy alongside. Times and details to follow.

We would like to invite anyone who has a family robe or indeed any special item of clothing worn at a christening, especially but not exclusively if in one of the benefice churches to exhibit those. It would add to the interest if a short history of the robe could accompany it, family members christened in it who made it, where it was used, etc. It doesn't have to be very old or used multiple times, just be another part of the story, Photos too, if possible.

Please contact Ruth Kimber (07966426962 01963 31289), Jean Sellick (01963 31274) or Maymie White (07775521701) if you would like to help or have any items for display.

Here is our lovely Joan!!

While cleaning st Stephens one day, I commented on how Joan always brings her own equipment and that her brush is lovely, getting around all the corners, Joan said Yes!! It was a wedding present, along with the dust pan and small brush. 60 years ago!!

Addis do market their products last a lifetime!!

Joan had not only cleaned churches, the village hall for 10 years. Along with everything else she has done.

I told Addis about Joan and her brush. They sent her this box of goodies! Lovely surprise. Thank You Joan for all you do .

Jean

UDDER FARM

I was looking out of the window recently and saw a great cloud of dust travelling slowly on the other side of the hedge from our field, the field opposite was being combined and a big yellow combine was marching down across the field, cutting the standing wheat crop and processing it. So that the grain was held in a large tank on the combine and the straw was being deposited out of its rear end, ready to be baled and used for livestock bedding. The driver was sat in an air-conditioned cab ,with all the wizardry that modern technology can throw at it, some can even control the tractor that they are unloading into, to make sure the trailer is full before going back to the storage shed

This is in some contrast to my first memories of harvest and combining. I can remember going to stay with my cousins that lived on a farm near Yeovil, during the school summer holidays. They not only had cows but also grew corn and had a combine, but very different from the one that I saw the other day

To start with there was no cab, so the person driving sat on an open platform looking down on the corn being harvested, wearing a handkerchief triangular fashion over his nose to stop the dust, health and safety was different then. The other difference was that there was no tank to hold the grain on the combine, instead it was trashed in the workings of the combine and would then come out of little shutes, to fill up large hessian sacks, ideal for sack races. These sacks were then tied at the top with baler twine and dropped down a slide onto the ground. So there was one person driving and another that had to keep an eye on the bags and change them over when they were full. There were three or four shutes, the good grain went down the first three and the last one was for the small grains and chaff, this one didn't fill up very quickly so if we were allowed on the combine we would keep an eye on this one and shout when it needed changing. If we were lucky sometimes, we could sit on the full sack as it went down the slide and finish up on the ground. I'm not sure it would be allowed today. These sacks then had to be picked up and put onto a trailer and taken back to the farm, before either being sold or ground up to feed the animals on the farm.

How things have changed, the other thing is it never seemed to rain in the summer then!!

VILLAGES' WALKING GROUP – SEPTEMBER WALK.

It's a while since our three villages' group walked on a Saturday, so in September we shall do just that again – on Saturday 28th September.

Our plan is to walk from Bruton to Cole, a walk we hoped to do last November, but then found it was too wet and boggy underfoot, so here's hoping our September weather will be kind.

The walk will take us to Cole, just outside Bruton, via Godminster Lane, Sexey's School, and Gants Mill to Cole returning via a path alongside (and crossing underneath) the railway line towards the Mill on The Brue Activity Centre and heading back to our start in Bruton.

It's a walk of around 5km (3 miles in English!), described as "easy apart from one short moderate section".

Do join us for this walk – you will be most welcome. For this Saturday 28th September walk we shall, as usual, meet at Charlton Musgrove Village Hall ready for a 10am set-off. This will allow car-sharing for those who wish.

As always, a note or call to say you will be joining us will avoid us setting off without you

We let you know last month about our friend UNA and her attempt at breaking the world record for sheep shearing.

SHE DID IT!!

Event organiser Huw Condron said Una's attempt was the equivalent of "running two marathons back to back",.

She took just four breaks during the mega challenge, .Cameron shore 113 in the opening run of two hours and followed with successive 1hr 45min runs of 105, 101, 104 and 94.

A statement from the World Sheep Shearing Records Society reads: "Una Cameron set a new Woman's nine-hour strong wool ewe World Record

The record was carefully judged on the conditions of the fleece and on how she treated each animal of 517 at Trefrank Farm, Cornwall, England.

Success resonates throughout the shearing industry worldwide as Una Cameron makes history by achieving a female nine-hour solo strong wool world record in shearing 517 Romney ewes.

CONGRATULATIONS!!

The first cow we've ever had to have triplets! According to Google, the odds are 1 in 100,000 cows will calve a triplet. Good things do happen to those who farm in Charlton Musgrove (sometimes 😊) Mother and babies doing well.
